

McELHOES & DUFFY HISTORY

J.A. Duffy started the operation of Duffy's Insurance in 1921. He was joined by W.S. (Mac) McElhoes in 1951 and the name was changed to McElhoes and Duffy Insurance Agency and St. Vital Realty to reflect the new partnerships.

J.R. (Ron) Corrigan, the son in-law of Mac McElhoes came into the business in 1955 after 5 years working with Norwich Union and General Accident. In 1969 McElhoes retired from real estate and Ron Corrigan purchased the shares and became sole owner and president. In 1971, the firm was incorporated in the name of Corrigan Enterprises Ltd and operated publicly as McElhoes and Duffy Insurance Agency.

Gerry Corrigan, eldest son of Ron Corrigan, joined the firm in 1977. The Real Estate division was wound down in 1981 allowing the firm to concentrate on providing their customers with complete insurance services.

Steve Corrigan, youngest son of Ron Corrigan, joined the firm in 1983 making McElhoes and Duffy Insurance Brokers a truly family-run business.

Over the years the firm has expanded to include complete insurance services for your Home, Auto, and Business.

It is with pride that we say our firm has one of the most automated offices in the insurance brokerage field and we are continuing to explore new methods through which we can offer our clients even better service.

Stability is foremost in today's somewhat transient society and after serving the public for over 82 years and three generations, we have no hesitation in saying

"WE ARE HERE TO STAY!"
